FLEXICIENCY

Newsletter February 2016

Advisory Board in the Making

The Consortium behind the FLEXICIENCY project is presently setting up an advisory board, which is open to new experts.

The advisory board will be composed by relevant, committed participants, who will collaborate with the project consortium in order to ensure a high quality of the project work by delivering feedback during consultations, testing the virtual market place and its capabilities, sharing expert knowledge to guide the project onwards, etc. Participation will be on a voluntary, non-binding and complimentary basis. The advisory board will serve throughout the project lifetime, which is set for a duration of 4 years (2015-2019).

Have your say in opening up a market for services by:

- Assessing and evaluating the research findings of the project
- Using the virtual market place to test how it could be exploited in your country
- Knowledge sharing and network
- Seising the opportunity to exploit the project to develop new services, business models & opportunities
- Taking the opportunity to gain improved market access
